

Library launches community art project

The Alexandria Library launched a community art project to fundraise for the organization, calling on local artists for submissions in a Dec. 5 announcement.

The library is calling on artists to decorate recycled chairs with their individual styles, which will create inventive art pieces to honor the country's 250th birthday celebration, the release states. Applications for designs are open until Jan. 9 and will be reviewed by a panel of library staff and local artists. Selected applications will be notified on Jan. 20.

The completed chairs will be displayed at library branches as part of the All Alexandria Reads program before they will be auctioned off to support the Alexandria Library Foundation. More details and the application can be found at alexlibraryva.org/take-a-seat.

-emitchell@alextimes.com