

REEPICHIEEP!

Sculpture by:
Bradley Elisabeth
Harris, Grade 8

Reepicheep is my favorite Narnia character and is in my favorite Narnia book, The Voyage of the Dawn Treader! I had never really sculpted much but decided that I wanted to try!

I started with a starfoam base, added clay over it, coated it with modge podge, painted it, and added his accessories. He stands about 15 inches tall with his feather, which is about the same height as he is in the movie!

The writing at the base of the statue is the prophecy that Reepicheep sings:

"Where sky and water meet, where the waves grow ever sweet, doubt not, you Reepicheep. To find all that you seek, there is the utter east. Doubt not."

Reepicheep took quite a while to complete, but the wait was well worth it! I have loved making him and hope you enjoy seeing the finished product as much as I do!
